Young Veteran Is Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

John C. Gaffney, 20, Dies As Result Of Injuries In Crash On Route 422

FOUR OTHERS HURT IN SAME MISHAP

Discharged from service in the U. S. Navy only a few weeks ago, John Clyde Gaffney, aged 20 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gaffney, of 419 Knox avenue, was fatally injured in an automobile collision on Route 422, a half mile this side of Parktown Corners at 1:50 o'clock this morning. Four others were injured in the crash, two of whom are in the Jameson Memorial hospital. Gaffney died in the hospital at 3:20 a. m., having sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The others injured were: Donald R. Klingensmith, aged 20 years, of 1024 Croton avenue, fractures of jaw and nose, laceration of chin, lower lip, and tongue.

Henry L. McFall, Jr., aged 20 years, of 237 West Grant street, laceration of left wrist, severing tendons; laceration of right wrist, abrasions and contusions of both knees and scalp.

Sgt. Dean Marshall, aged 25 years, of 323 Orchard avenue, Ellwood City, lacerations of the right knee, right eyebrow, and severe contusion of the right thigh.

Mrs. Evelyn Marshall, aged 20 years, of 328 Orchard avenue, Ellwood City, shock, abrasions and contusions of the head and chest, and bruises of the legs.

Cars Collide

According to the story learned by Coroner R. D. Nugent and Pennsylvania State Police, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, and their eleven-month old daughter, Catherine, who escaped uninjured, were en route to their home in Ellwood City, from Selfridge Field, Mich., where Marshall was on duty.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Nature has ways of making allowances for its mistakes, as is evident in a report to Pa New from a Westside. To the rear of the residence of J. E. Leasure, 814 West Washington street, is a pear tree that blossomed in the correct season. The pears came on and continued to grow in size. Then, as if to make amends for the pears killed by the frost and heavy rains, several weeks ago put out more flowers, which have developed into small fruit of two sizes to be harvested at separate times, it is reported.

Pa New is informed that A. P. Stewart, of R. D. No. 2, Wampum, had new pears and new potatoes out of his garden on June 18. He would like to know who has topped that.

During his travels about the city early Friday evening, Pa. New noted a bad condition that exists just across the street from the Court House on Court House hill where the curve in the street begins. At the end of the fence that runs from East Washington street, up to the curve in the hill, there is one section of wall that is entirely unprotected and a sheer drop of approximately 25 feet exists. Some child may fall over the wall or a car coming around the bend could easily ease over the wall if anything happened to the cars steering apparatus.

Pa New was told of a new use for those large pocketbooks that the ladies carry around with them these days. One citizen stated that he was in a local store when he noted a woman standing near the seed counter and when no one was looking was taking handful of beans from the seed compartments and putting them in the different sections of the large pocketbook. After looking around a bit, she left the store.

The little dog house, made from discarded oil cans, at the corner of Arlington and East Washington streets, is still attracting a lot of business.

U. S. May Discuss Atomic Control Without Russia

NEW YORK, June 22.—(INS)—The United States was reported today ready to discuss creation of an atomic energy control authority outside the United Nations if Russia refuses to agree to surrender its U. N. veto power.

A keynote of the American plan, presented to the UN Atomic Energy Commission by Bernard Baruch, was that the Big Five must surrender their veto in the administration of atomic energy by the United Nations.

Informed sources said that while the United States is willing to go outside the UN for atomic energy (Continued on Page Two)

Blast In Dallas Hotel Is Cause Of Seven Deaths

DALLAS, Tex., June 22.—(INS)—The third hotel disaster since 5 to-day claimed the lives of seven persons, with 41 injured, following an explosion which blew out the lower east wall of the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

All of those killed in yesterday's explosion at the Baker Hotel were hotel employees who were working in the basement where the blast occurred.

Firemen said there was no blaze such as characterized the LaSalle Hotel fire in Chicago on June 3, when 61 died or the Canfield Hotel holocaust at Dubuque, Ia., June 9 when 19 perished.

Probe Debris

But they admitted charred spots were found near the apparent center of the explosion.

Firemen and rescue squads continued to probe the debris in search of possible additional victims.

Meanwhile, four of the 41 persons still hospitalized were in a serious condition.

Fire officials still were at a loss to explain the cause of the blast. They discredited the ammonia explosion theory, pointing out that ammonia does not burn and explodes only under great pressure.

Scores Clemency Given Convicted Jap War Criminal

TOKYO, June 22.—(INS)—Lieut. Gen. Robert Eichelberger, U. S. eighth army commander, today issued a scorching criticism of an American military commission for recommending clemency for a convicted Japanese war criminal because of his advanced age.

Eichelberger said that there was no justifiable basis for clemency in the case of 62-year-old Major Yachi Rikitake, war prison camp commander who was sentenced to 15 years.

Rikitake was implicated in the murders of allied war prisoners. The American general issued his criticism after reviewing the case. Eichelberger declared:

"In order that the accused may not escape punishment, the sentence, though inadequate, is approved."

Trackless Trolley And Auto Collide; Four Persons Hurt

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—(INS)—Four persons were injured today when a Route 61 trackless trolley and an automobile collided at Ridge and Glenwood avenues.

They were taken to the Women's Homeopathic Hospital. Doctors said James Schofield, 55, of Grison street near Ruan, was the most seriously hurt and detained him for X-ray examination of head injuries. Schofield was driving the automobile.

Two of his passengers, Stanley Buckley, 48, of 2512 N. 22nd St., and Wilbur Nibouer, 55, of 105 W. Chew St., were treated for minor injuries.

A trolley passenger, Mrs. Matilda Brenna, 53, of 4228 Manavunk Ave., a trolley passenger, was treated for bruises and shock.

Hear Reports Agreement On O.P.A. Nearing

Congressional Conferees Continue Efforts To Agree On O.P.A. Bill

ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED SOON

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—Congressional conferees of the OPA bill met for the fourth consecutive day today amid reports that they are near an agreement on legislation containing formulas for higher price ceilings and for gradual liquidation of price controls.

The 14-member conferees group, attempting to complete its work before tonight, was reported to be drafting a plan for piece-meal removal of controls on individual articles after June 30 when normal supply and demand relationships have been restored.

May Make Announcement

Conferees indicated that a full agreement probably would be announced today on a bill to continue modified price controls after the present law expires June 30.

Senate majority leader Barkley, of Ky., one of the conferees, said, however, that the group had not yet reached a final decision on several senate amendments.

He said the senate proposals still under discussion were the amendments to end controls June 30 on major food items, on the price ceilings plan or on food subsidies to hold down living costs.

Only six legislative days remain for the conferees to reach an agreement, obtain the approval of the (Continued on Page Two)

President Talks To Secretary Byrnes In Paris Today

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—President Truman conferred by trans-Atlantic telephone this morning with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on developments at the Paris meeting of foreign ministers.

The President talked from his desk in the White House to Byrnes in the American Embassy in the French capital.

The telephone call was placed by Byrnes, the White House said. The White House would say only that it concerned "progress of the Paris meeting."

The connection was made at 9:15 a. m. and the conversation lasted about five minutes.

At his news conference Thursday afternoon, the President said that he had been in daily contact with Byrnes by cable during the Paris meeting. Apparently this morning's conversation was their first telephone call.

Bell Telephone Company Buys Large Downtown Site For New Building

The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania has purchased real estate in New Castle to serve as a site for a new building to house toll and local central offices, district offices and a commercial business office according to an announcement today.

The property purchased is located on the northwest corner of Mercer street and South street, with a frontage of 103 feet on Mercer street and extending 160 feet along South street to Cochran Way. It is the site formerly occupied by a market which burned and the adjoining site on which the building was recently razed.

While final arrangements have not been completed, the new building will be of adequate size for ultimate telephone requirements.

Probe Of R.F.C. Lax Accounting Charges Looms

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—A congressional investigation of charges of lax accounting practices by the huge Reconstruction Finance Corporation was assured today by at least one of several house committees.

The charges were leveled by Comptroller Kinsley Warren in reports to President Truman and the house of representatives, in which he declared that the practices were "of such seriousness and such moment" that he felt immediate report should be made.

RFC Chairman Charles B. Henderson quickly replied to the accusations by stating that the lending agency's wartime activities had expanded so rapidly that it did not permit establishment of centralized accounting records and controls.

T-3 Charles P. Chip Killed In Germany

Local Soldier Meets Death In Motor Vehicle Accident, War Department Message States

Mrs. Margaret Kirker, of 31 1/2 North Mill street, received the sad message from the War Department this week, stating that her nephew, T-3 Charles P. Chip, Jr., aged 22 years, had been killed in a motor vehicle accident in Germany on June 13. The telegram stated that a confirming letter giving additional details would follow.

Requiem Memorial mass in his honor will take place in St. Mary's church on July 8.

Charles P. Chip, Jr., was the son of Charles P. Chip of Detroit, and the late Helen Ryan Chip, both formerly of this city. He had resided with his aunt, Mrs. Kirker, following the death of his mother in 1938.

He had been in service for four years, and had been serving overseas with the occupation forces in Germany following the close of the war.

Cleveland Plumbers Serve Strike Notice

CLEVELAND, June 22.—(INS)—The AFL plumbers union today served a 30-day strike notice on Cleveland contractors, thereby posing another threat to the area's already crippled veteran housing and postwar building program.

The plumbers, like the AFL carpenters, who were in the 18th day of their strike in three northern Ohio counties, are seeking to equalize their pay with the six top-paying building craftsmen who receive $2.00 an hour.

No Liberalization Of Divorce Law In Canada Expected

OTTAWA, June 22.—(INS)—Hopes of many Canadians for liberalization of Canada's divorce laws were shattered today by Justice Minister St. Laurent.

The minister told the House of Commons there was no possibility of an extension of the grounds for divorce. At present a divorce is granted only on the grounds of adultery.

He said, "If you get away from the existence of a divine law you have no stigma beyond which you can go."

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—(INS)—Marked money, the OPA disclosed today, has again trapped alleged price ceiling violators in Philadelphia.

The price control agency said that two partners in a used car and truck sales agency have been arrested and placed under $1,000 bail each.

According to the OPA, the men charged a disabled war veteran more than 220 percent over the ceiling price for a light pick-up truck.

Marked Money Traps Violators Of Price Ceilings

PITTSBURGH, June 22.—(INS)—An all time record for uncontested divorce cases were listed for trial next week in the Allegheny county common pleas court.

Court officials said that 378 suits will be heard to clear the docket before the court goes on summer schedule next month.

Peron Hopes For Better Relations With 'Uncle Sam'

BUENOS AIRES, June 22.—(INS)—President Juan Peron of Argentina today "hoped for better relations with the United States" and as much trade as possible with the Soviet Union.

He told a conference of foreign correspondents that he would request the Argentine congress to act quickly on a bill to ratify the Chapultepec and San Francisco charters, but maintained that he was not legally authorized to recommend approval of legislation.

The Chapultepec agreement calls for joint hemispheric defense and expulsion of foreign agents, and the San Francisco charter established the United Nations.

Peron said that Argentina has failed to ship more wheat to Europe because unnamed foreign nations have withheld rubber tires from the Argentine.

The packers said reason for the shortage was the dropping of livestock shipments from farm to market to the lowest levels in history.

The Chicago stock market's largest concern in Milwaukee, closed its plant employing 1,700 persons. Other slaughtering houses were reported prepared to shut down.

The department of agriculture said livestock receipts this week at the 12 major stockyards were the lowest for any week under normal transportation conditions.

Packing officials said the reason for the shortage was the fact that farmers were withholding livestock in the hope OPA price ceilings will end June 30.

War Would Nullify All Agreements On A-Bomb Control

LONDON, June 22.—(INS)—Viscount Cecil of Chelwood warned today that it might be well to have elaborate plans to render atomic force harmless, but that should war break out again all such arrangements would cease to be effective.

In a speech before the first annual meeting of the council of the United Nations Association, Viscount Cecil said:

"We might well have elaborate arrangements rendering atomic force harmless, but the moment war starts, all such arrangements will cease to be effective and long before it ends the chief cities of the world and much else will be destroyed."

His wife told police he had been in excellent health and had only "minor business worries."

Dress Rehearsal For Bomb Test Is Postponed

BIKINI, June 22.—(INS)—Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of operations crossroads, today postponed until Monday (Sunday in the United States) the dress rehearsal of the July 1 atomic bomb test over Bikini.

The crossroads chief called off the rehearsal originally set for 10 a. m. tomorrow, because of unfavorable winds and heavy clouds which weathermen said would spread over the lagoon making air operations impracticable.

Paris Parley Clamps Lid On News Of Trieste

Negotiations On Trieste Issue Being Conducted In Secret By Foreign Ministers

MOLOTOV PLANS TO EXPLAIN RED POLICY

PARIS, June 22.—(INS)—Big Four foreign ministers clamped a lid on news of their negotiations on Trieste and Venezia Giulia today, reportedly to permit themselves freer expression of opinions while in session.

Such "silent treatment" for newsmen marked a concession by U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes, who until now has steadily championed full dissemination of conference results.

Long Shambling Block

Trieste—and its surrounding Italian-Yugoslav border area—has long been a stumbling block to accord on an Italian peace treaty.

Byrnes and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov dined together last night in what was widely interpreted as an attempt to solve the riddle. They gave no hint as to any solution reached, however, as they emerged from the heavily-guarded Hotel Maurice.

The ministers' decision to keep their own counsel coincided only with a disclosure by a Soviet foreign office spokesman that Molotov intends to break with precedent and inaugurate a series of news conferences soon to explain Russian policy in Germany.

The spokesman said the Soviets are eager to voice their opposition (Continued on Page Two)

Britain Studies U. S. Proposals To Control Japan

LONDON, June 22.—(INS)—Great Britain received warmly today the U. S. proposal that a four-power treaty be signed to keep Japan disarmed for the next 25 years.

A foreign office spokesman said the government was studying the draft of the proposed treaty and would deliver a final reply after full consideration.

The other powers suggested for commission are China and the Soviet Union.

Man Dead, Two Hurt Removing Mine Fuse

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., June 22.—(INS)—Oscar Brumbaugh, 30, of Chambersburg, R. D., an employee of the Letterny Ordnance Depot, was dead today and two other workers were injured following the explosion of a land mine while they were removing the fuse.

Brumbaugh died in the Chambersburg hospital last night from a fractured skull, internal injuries and a severed left hand. William Donovan, 49, of Newville, and George Patterson, 21, of Chambersburg, R. D., were treated for cuts and bruise burns.

RICE SHORTAGE IN TOKYO IS ACUTE

TOKYO, June 22.—(INS)—Rice was a rare dish today on Japanese tables.

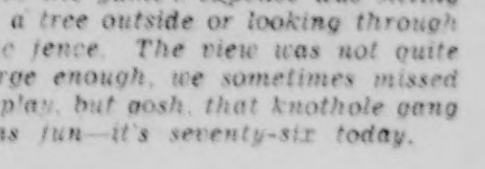

The world's largest rice-eating city failed to receive a single grain of rice from agricultural areas last Tuesday and Wednesday.

It was the first time in recorded history that rice was not among daily food shipments to the Japanese capital.

The rice shortage in Tokyo has become acute in the past 20 days.

Kills His Fiance, Hurts Himself In Daring Air Salute

HANNIBAL, Mo. June 22.—(INS)—A flying war hero whose aerial salute killed his sweetheart and hurt himself in the crash and who was hurt in a subsequent plane crash was expected to recover today from his injuries.

Victim of the tragedy was Betty Ann Lyng, 20, of nearby New London where the tragedy occurred yesterday. She was caught by the undercarriage of the low-flying plane and dragged to her death.

The pilot, Howard "Red" Hampshire, 22, of Hull, Ill., was reported recovering from spinal and head injuries suffered in the crash. Attendants at the hospital said he would recover.

Hampshire, recently discharged after six months service in Germany, had just completed his training under the "G. I. plan" for a private pilot's license at the Quincy, Ill., airport.

On the eve of receiving his wings, Hampshire flew over Miss Lyng's home at New London. Watching the flight were the girl and her father, Robert E. Lyng, a farmer.

As Hampshire swooped in to salute her, the girl ran into the field and waved a warning to the pilot not to land on the muddy field.

A sudden downdraft apparently caught the plane and it dipped alarmingly, catching the girl and dragging her for more than 100 feet. She was crushed to death under the fuselage as the plane crashed into a fence and stopped.

Lyng rushed to the wreckage and found his daughter dead. He pulled the pilot from the wreckage and took him to the hospital.

house and senate, and send a bill to the White House.

June 30 Time Limit

The price control act will expire June 30 unless new legislation is adopted. Barkley told newsmen that "I still hope to get a bill out that will be acceptable."

His comment followed in the wake of conferees' reports that the group had adopted by a 9 to 5 vote a amendment of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, which establishes a new pricing formula, insuring increased prices to the consumer for many manufactured articles.

It was this amendment which Economic Stabilization Director Bowles had dubbed a "booby trap" and "a delayed action bomb."

It was understood that Sens. Wagner (D) N. Y. and Downey (D) Calif. were the only senate conferees to vote against the amendment. Three house Democratic conferees reportedly voted "no."

No Official Word

No official information has come from the conference since it first convened Wednesday. Attempts to relax the secrecy ban imposed on members proved unsuccessful and Barkley said nothing would be divulged until the conferees had completed their work.

Rep. Spencer (D) Ky., conference chairman, curtly told reporters that "nothing of interest to you was done."

Barkley explained that the secrecy ban was imposed because the conferees feared the public would get "the wrong conception" of what was going on if information was given out before work was completed on a bill. He said "it's a very complicated bill."

However, Barkley could recall only one other occasion when a strict secrecy man was imposed. Meanwhile, the senate adopted an amendment to the second war powers act which Barkley interpreted as prohibiting the president from continuing price or rent controls in the event the price control act lapsed June 30.

to American proposals for a 25-year treaty to keep Germany disarmed. He said Premier Stalin approved the idea in advance when he was sounded out by Byrnes last Christmas, but that the present draft contains provisions which were not set forth previously.

Soviet Complaint

Chief Soviet complaint against the proposed treaty is connected with the Potsdam agreement. The spokesman said the new pact would supplant the Potsdam decisions, which if fully implemented could provide sufficient security against new German aggressions.

Russia has also opposed Byrnes' provisions that occupation troops be withdrawn from Germany before the treaty takes effect.

According to the spokesman, the presence of foreign troops in Germany would act as a deterrent to German plotters. He said Germans must not be encouraged to feel that the Nazi crimes are to be written off completely, as they would come to feel if occupation troops were evacuated after a year.

Efforts of the ministers to conclude an Italian draft treaty was hampered by instructions of the Italian government to its delegates in Paris to notify the Big Four Italy would not sign a treaty by which it would be forced to renounce Italian colonies.

The instruction stated, however, that a treaty could be signed if the colonial question is merely adjourned for a year, and if Italy is permitted to make her views heard again when a final solution is discussed.

First Jet Plane Air Mail Delivery Being Inaugurated

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 22.—(INS)—The first jet plane delivered air mail was to leave Schenectady today, arriving at its destination almost before the ink had dried on the letter.

The mail, to be flown in P-80 Shooting Stars, was to be dispatched by Gale Sullivan, second assistant postmaster general, to Washington, Dayton, O., and Chicago. President Truman, Orville Wright, who flew the first plane, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago will be among the first recipients of the jet-propelled letters, which will be carried at a speed above 500 miles an hour.

Seven hundred fifty letters will be flown on the first flight to Washington, which will be made in less than one hour, and 750 to Chicago. Thousands of pieces of airmail were sent in anticipation of the flight. And these, too, will be taken part of the way on the jet planes.

A weiner roast and doll show have been planned for next week. Playground supervisor is Miss Joan Cox.

Health Talks By DR. W. A. WOMER City Health Superintendent

CONSUMPTION

Styles in clothing change from year to year. Bustles were very fashionable fifty years ago but now they are out of style.

Whiskers used to be very common but not nowadays.

Diphtheria and cholera infantum were very prevalent at the beginning of this century but are rarely heard of here now.

Consumption was a very common disease a few years ago. People who had consumption usually coughed a lot. They had a red flush on their cheeks. They got short of breath easily. They were weak and tired. They were hopeful and sure that they would be well pretty soon.

Nowadays the disease is called tuberculosis. There are not nearly so many people have it as formerly. It is usually detected early before it gets much of a start.

Our state is doing a good work on tuberculosis. Public health officials are working on it all the time. Private organizations and individual citizens are interested and help a lot.

Prevention is better than cure.

The travel bug has taken hold and those with vacations have taken advantage of the opportunity of getting away from the grind for a few weeks.

Workmen were seen working on North Jefferson street, Friday afternoon, digging post holes for the new parking meters that will replace the old "Mark Time" meters that are in general use throughout the city.

There will be fewer "wiener roasts" this year than for some time. Pa New believes. The wiener roast has become one of those hard to get items in the butcher shops of the city. If it stops raining long enough for the corn to get a good start, perhaps corn roasts will supplant the disappointed hot dog fans.

Numerous dirt streets in the city still remain in bad condition. Pa New notes. The street department on several of the East Side dirt streets dumped in some of the dirt from the Taylor street excavations into the holes on the streets, but the incessant rains have washed it out.

Marines Launch Recruiting Drive For Aviation Men

Sergeant Philip R. Sasse, U. S. Marine recruiting chief in the city, announced today that young men from 17 to 30 years of age may now enlist specifically for aviation training in the corps.

The new program is especially designed to attract young men who are interested in aviation and who desire to make Marine Corps aviation a career or to get a technical background in aviation for use in their civilian profession.

Men may enlist for two, three or four years for this duty and receive all the technical training that Marine Corps schools can give, and in addition to this men become eligible for all the benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights and may continue their education at government expense upon completion of their enlistment.

The local Marine recruiting station is located in Room 211 of the Post Office building.

Russians Take Full Credit For Defeating Nazis

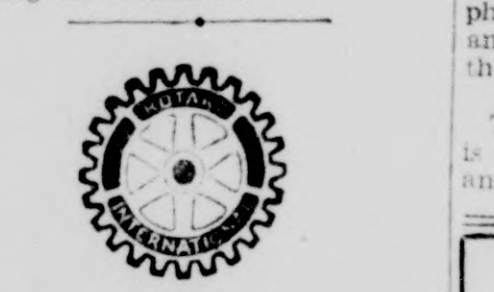

NEW YORK, June 22.—(INS)—The Moscow radio today quoted an article in Pravda, communist party paper, which gave the Russians full credit for defeating the Nazis.

The article was written on the fifth anniversary of the Nazi invasion of Russia on June 22, 1941.

Picked up by NBC, the broadcast quoted Pravda as saying that "under the command of Generalissimo Stalin, the greatest general of all times and all nations, the Soviet Union battled the Nazis single-handed throughout the war, as a second front was opened only late in 1944."

The Russian army paper Red Star said:

"It was the Russian army which moved the invaders down and destroyed the Nazis, not only fighting for Russia's liberty, but also saving all civilization."

Fellow Rotarians:

The accidents on the highways have increased to an alarming extent, so much so, that the president has named a committee to consider the proposition on a national scale. The governor of our state has shown concern over the danger. The mayor of our own city has been asked to name a safety committee. And Benny Hamilton has arranged a program on "Highway Safety."

We will be addressed by George Lowe, Dept. of Highways.

For the mayor's information the Rotary club was active in having an ordinance passed that sets up a traffic committee. It is composed of the mayor, chief of police, representatives of the GNCA Motor club and civic clubs. Worth digging up.

control. It will insist that whatever new body is created must have the full right to order punishment for violations.

The Baruch plan did not specify whether the Security Council or the proposed atomic development authority should have the power to direct punishment of violators.

Other Proposals Likely

The United States, it was said, is willing to accept delegation of atomic power to either the United Nations military staff committee, or to a hitherto unspecified body.

Both France and Poland, reliable authorities said, intend to advance other atomic energy proposals designed in large measure to meet Russia's objection.

France, it was said would employ the American plan as a basis for its recommendations, would propose international controls with teeth in them but yet would not weaken the Big Five veto on the Security Council.

Informed sources said Poland, frequently on Russia's side in UN debates, would ignore the veto in its proposals but would discuss other phases which both the United States and Russia treated incompletely in their recommendations.

The other car, a 1930 Model-A Ford, which young Gaffney had recently purchased, and had been conditioned, was traveling in the opposite direction, when the two cars collided. Klingensmith and McFall were passengers in the Gaffney car.

Just how the collision occurred has not yet been clearly determined by the State Police and coroner, who are investigating the circumstances further today.

Both cars were badly damaged, the car of young Gaffney being literally reduced to scrap.

A pet dog owned by the Marshalls was killed in the collision. It is stated.

Sometimes following the accident, someone stole the tires and motor from the wreckage of the Gaffney car, state police stated.

Corner T. F. Nugent plans to conduct an inquest at a later date.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

O. P. A. Price Control On Foods To Remain

WASHINGTON, June 22. — In spite of the never-ending stream of propaganda directed against it, the OPA still has considerable support. Bewitched, bewildered and beguiled as many people are by the barrage of hostile propaganda, still they recognize the danger if all barriers are swept aside.

That is why Congress in the end will probably strike out the amendments to the price control act which would lift controls, ten days from now, on most essential food. If those amendments were to go through, then the housewife would see immediately what the effect of price control had been, and she and her husband would know whom to blame.

But even if these are knocked out, the booby-trap amendments, as Chester Bowles calls them, will be left in. Bowles says they can do as much harm as the direct-action amendments.

Effect Later
The point, however, is that the effect will not be felt until later. People have a way of forgetting after a few weeks have passed. They put the blame for their troubles not on the individuals responsible but vaguely on the government, on Washington.

That is why the shrewd politicians in both House and Senate who have inserted the price-increases amendments on the slow-burn principle will probably insist on keeping them. Words like "de-control" have a reasonable sound. The public will not understand what they actually do.

That, of course, makes the test for President Truman all the more tough. Bowles will recommend a veto if the booby-trap amendments are left in. But the choice before the president will be a painful one. In fact, if a convention of wingers had conspired to snarl up the whole business of price control, it could not have been more successfully snarled. To begin with, Congress, by delaying action until the last hour, made a sellers' strike almost inevitable. Just ordinary caution, if you were a manufacturer, would dictate holding off until you saw which way prices were going to move.

Misunderstanding
Then there was the unfortunate misunderstanding over the effort to obtain a no-strike pledge from the AFL and the CIO. That was first reported in terms of a class of people between Bowles and the president, who was said to have turned it down. According to Bowles, this was not true, since it had been brought up at the White House merely in a tentative discussion.

That report did not enhance the chances of obtaining such a pledge from the two leading labor organizations. Those chances were tenuous at best. But if such a pledge were obtained on condition that the price control act be renewed in more or less its present form, then the prospect of realistic controls would certainly be brighter.

No such pledge would be kept 100 per cent. This, Bowles frankly acknowledged. That kind of perfection simply is not possible in human affairs. Conceivably it would have been kept about as well as the no-strike pledge was kept during the war. The wartime record shows an infinitesimal number of days lost through strikes in comparison to the number of days worked.

Reason For Support
From time to time, angry readers have wanted to know why I continued to plead the cause of Bowles and the OPA. The answer is that, in my opinion, Bowles is a reasonable man. He wants to do a reasonable job of controlling prices until the machine of American production gets into high gear. He speaks out with a kind of Yankee forthrightness in the face of too obvious shams.

This quality of reasonableness was evident in what may prove to be Bowles' last press conference as an official of the Truman administration. He avoided flesh-creepling talk about runaway inflation and bushel-bushel money.

Instead, he pitched his argument for continuation of realistic control on what a race between prices and wages would do to us as a people socially and politically. The damage done on the social-political side might be even greater. Bowles suggested that the economic damage, it would exaggerate the argument over where the blame lay for our economic plight—whether with labor and the present administration or with business and the Republicans.

That same danger, vastly accentuated, is part of the threat of a boom-to-bust cycle which would be precipitated by soaring prices. It divides us as a people along alien class lines. It prevents us, as Bowles in his reasonable way pointed out, from getting down to our job. That job is to show the world we are a going concern providing rewards and satisfactions for almost every one.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

In two New Jersey towns, not far from each other, two men recently died, two men of whom you may never have heard—at least I never heard of them until I read their obituaries—but whose lives must have been lovely.

Montell Toulmin, 72, had rung the chimes at St. Patrick's Cathedral for forty-four years. Three months ago he was stricken ill and taken to a hospital in his home town, Somerville, where he passed on a few days ago.

In Hillsdale, N. J., Thomas Alfred Weston, horticulturist and flower lover, died at 68 after undergoing an operation a week earlier.

Mr. Toulmin wrote most of the music he played on the chimes. When he rang them on New Year's Eve, thousands of New Yorkers would gather near the cathedral to hear them—finding a little peace and harmony, thanks to his playing.

His father before him had played the chimes and the harp at St. Thomas Church in New York. One of his daughters has taken her grandfather's place at St. Thomas; another daughter is a professional harpist.

From Me To You

By MESEAL

Some one needs to wake up . . . and the breath that speaks is blowing down our very backs. Yes indeed friends something should be done to correct some of the false impressions that come from our confused Washington.

We all have been told time and time again how the War Surplus Material market is operated. After the government agencies get what they need then the veteran has first choice . . . if of course he can produce good evidence that he is entitled to a priority. That to our eyes is a bit of malarky. To prove that it doesn't work that way we personally investigated the topic.

After considerable filling out of questionnaires and papers in triplicate . . . a priority was received. Limited priority . . . so many months duration. A notice came along saying that the holder of the priority should NOT try to shop around for the needed items . . . but when such an item or items was put up for sale the priority holder would be notified . . . in three months time no notice has arrived.

In another case the priority holder disregarded the waiting notice and shopped around . . . there was no question as to his entrance in the various warehouses or sale places. But he did have difficulty in finding anything he COULD buy . . . he found the items but they were all sold . . . and guess to whom. Employees of the government who were conducting the sale.

Veterans we are getting the run-around . . . what can we do to stop this run-around? Organize for one thing . . . and attend a meeting that will take place here in New Castle in the very near future concerning this very vital problem. Organization should take place through the already established veterans organizations . . . a solid straight thinking approach is the real way to tackle the problem. No half-cocked ideas with talk-before-they-think guys. Think it over comrades.

In the meantime let's be happy . . . and we'll see you in church.

"Leaky Vessels" In Presidential Circle

WASHINGTON, June 22. THE acute problems that have followed the greatest of all wars plus inheritance of an unprecedentedly unsavory domestic scene largely due to the reckless extravagance, low-grade labor-union politics and general maladministration of the Roosevelt regime, have combined to create for President Truman situations that would tax the strength and strain the resources of a far bigger man than he.

HE HAS not done as well with them as he should. His veto of the Case bill was illogical and deplorable. Some of his major appointees have been decidedly second class, and it is not an adequate answer to say they are better than those whom they succeed. And his insistence upon his devotion to the "Roosevelt policies," so clearly responsible for the worst of our internal troubles, added to his efforts to placate the radical groups, so insultingly hostile to him personally, seems entirely political, stupid as well as unsound. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman, in a crisis, made a stand against labor arrogance in gratifying contrast to the encouraging attitude of his predecessor. The coarse denunciation of the Daily Worker and the professional union bosses that followed was a tribute to him.

WHATEVER may be said in criticism of the Truman administration, there is a refreshing lack of malice about it. The essential decency of the President himself makes it easy to forgive his lesser mistakes and the weight of his burdens tends to create sympathy. Certainly nothing he has done justifies the malice and persistent personal disparagement to which left-wing political and journalistic spokesmen are devoting themselves. And it is very tough luck indeed that in addition to his other troubles, Mr. Truman, apparently should be afflicted with some exceedingly leaky vessels among his close aides and advisers.

THAT some of those upon whom he depends were "leaky" information or ideas to hostile writers has seemed manifest for months. It is difficult to conceive of anything more disturbing to a harassed executive or more unworthy in his supposedly loyal friends. The most recent example of this is in the widely distributed articles appearing a few days ago in which a detailed account of an alleged White House conversation between the President and Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles was given. Mr. Bowles, it was stated, after conferences with the Messrs. Murray and Green, the labor bosses, had reached an agreement with them by which both strikes and prices were to be controlled.

INSTEAD of being delighted with this when Mr. Bowles personally went to him with the plan, the President, it was stated, gave way to a "sharp attack of theague" and has long felt for Mr. Bowles and "bitterly" denounced the aforementioned labor bosses. All this is stated as coming from "the highest sources" and on "authentic authority." Clearly, the only authentic information of a private conversation between the President and Mr. Bowles could come from Mr. Bowles himself. Clearly, the disparaged President did not repeat the conversation and the natural inference from the articles is that the highly praised Mr. Bowles did.

NOW, perhaps, this does Mr. Bowles grave injustice. Perhaps, he never repeated the conversation he had with the President on this matter. Perhaps, there was no such agreement. Certainly, it seems rather a silly notion that the Messrs. Bowles, Murray and Green should think that prices could be kept down without wages being kept down, too. And if the Messrs. Murray and Green ever voluntarily agreed to the latter they would both be out of their very soft jobs with great speed and completeness. It is difficult to read this article without inferring that, directly or indirectly, the information upon which it is based came from Mr. Bowles. This puts Mr. Bowles in a very bad position.

If he did not supply the information, and one cannot believe that he did—then he owes it to himself, as well as Mr. Truman, to deny the correctness of these inevitable inferences and repudiate the commitments which the authors heap upon him.

CONCEDING that Mr. Bowles, either directly or indirectly, has not "leaked" to these writing gentlemen, so obviously hostile to his chief and so effusively partial to himself, one would think that he would be very vindignant, indeed about it. It is almost incredible that with his tastes, talents and training for publicity, he should be so lacking in self-defense and his record as one of the most successful advertising men in the country that Mr. Bowles, with a conscience free of guilt, can sit mute under such an indictment as these articles frame against him. For they are by no means the first. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate)

The State Police Say

The habit of NOT taking a chance is very important. A slow moving vehicle crawling slowly up a hill causes many drivers to take a chance. Many times the driver of a slow moving vehicle will signal you to pass, but if you do pass it is a case of taking a chance as you are "driving blind." Should an accident occur under those circumstances, no one is to blame but yourself. Never place your safety in the hands of someone else. Never pass an oncoming vehicle in a clear and unobstructed view of the highway ahead for a distance of 500 feet.

"Valley Of Decision"

The World and the Mud Puddles

A MERE BAGATELLE

In an evident gesture to impress Congress the OPA announces that since last July price controls have been lifted from some three thousand items, representing a business volume of Ten Million Dollars per year. This may seem to some people to be a great concession on the part of OPA, but the OPA itself admits that items totaling more than One Hundred Billion Dollars a year are still subject to ceilings.

It must occur to at least some members of Congress that if controls can be lifted from three thousand items they could be lifted from several thousand more items without disaster. OPA doubtless would explain that the items from which controls have been lifted are only those in which production has come into line with demand. If such is the case, it will be found that production has been able to reach demand only by reason of the fact that OPA ceilings have been high enough to give the producers a decent profit. Unfortunately, on the thousands of items remaining under price controls there is no possibility whatever that production ever will reach demand for the simple reason that present ceilings make it impossible to produce except at a loss.

Some example of the hopelessness of expecting production to meet demand under OPA are to be found in statements of Robert A. Seidel, controller of the W. T. Grant Company chain stores. Mr. Seidel tells how the world's largest manufacturer of work socks has had to discontinue making socks, having put eighty per cent of his machinery in grease and using the remainder to produce a "new number" which escapes OPA ceilings in dress hose. Last year manufacturer, he continues, will not make lawn mowers because OPA ceilings ignore increased costs in materials and wages. Chenille robes, costing $325 to manufacture, have an OPA ceiling of $235—so robes of this type are disappearing. A manufacturer formerly producing ninety per cent of the brass shells for light sockets had to quit producing because of arbitrary ceiling prices; now these sockets are available only in the black market at four to ten times former prices.

Mr. Seidel also relates the case of a wounded veteran of four years' service who, with OPA's permission, started a factory to make dresses to sell at $10.75 each. After he had made a good start OPA came along and told him he could charge no more than $8.75. As the dresses cost him $9.50 each he simply had to quit.

It is obvious to anybody, except an OPA "expert" that production is never going to catch up with demand under any system which creates the conditions above quoted. The further supply falls short of demand, and the longer the shortage continues, the more the black market flourishes and the more inflationary the pressure. As Mr. Seidel satirically observes, while needed goods pile up in warehouses and are not produced at all, OPA makes magnificent gestures by removing controls from "dehydrated banana flakes," "manhole covers," "canned potatoes," "ice cream sandwich waffles," and "imported canned eels."

OPA may propitiate popular sentiment and try to impress Congress by lifting a control here and another there, but once its life is extended without restrictions we can depend on it that controls will be more rigid and autocratic than ever. The whole system is keeping goods from the public driving people to the black markets, creating wholesale unemployment and pushing us closer and closer to disastrous inflation. It is time the country be allowed to run its own business.

News that Switzerland lent Germany $250,000,000 during the war helps to explain why Hitler never thought it worthwhile to conquer that little country—Boston Globe

Men's suits now are coming out at double the rate early this year with the demand remaining approximately a dozen times more.—Kansas City Star

MARRIAGE OF DIVORCEE'S DAUGHTER

"My mother and father are divorced. Although I have made my home with my mother, I have been very friendly with my father, who will, at my approaching marriage give me away. Should both my father's and my mother's names appear on the wedding invitation and answer to be a great concession on the part of OPA, but the OPA itself admits that items totaling more than One Hundred Billion Dollars a year are still subject to ceilings.

Answer: Your mother's name only should appear on the invitations and announcements, despite the fact that you are very friendly with your father and he will give you away. She should use the title proper for all divorced or a recent divorcee. If your mother's name should be on them, what form should be used—Mrs. John Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith?

If your mother had remarried, your invitations would, correctly, have been issued by her and your stepfather thus:

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Mary Smith etc. etc.

In either case, however, it is entirely permissible for the bride to be given away by her own father.

Question: I have just received an invitation to a baby shower to be given for a woman who has been married for a number of years and has two other children. Could this be proper? It seems somewhat foolish since showers were never given to her when she had other children.

Answer: It is quite usual today for friends to give a baby shower to an expectant mother or a recent mother. It makes little difference whether showers were given to her after the birth of her other children. It is a comparatively recent idea. Really, whether or not you approve, you must either go and take along a gift or politely decline and, nonetheless, send a gift.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

POORLY MANAGED CHILDREN

Among the hardest questions I have to answer are those related to undisciplined neighbor children. By parents who themselves are trying hard to bring up their own child to respect the rights and possessions of others. Such questions are coming to me in increasing number and I expect them to continue to increase because the lack of proper home discipline seems to be growing, especially in the better economic areas.

Let me quote from a letter, the kind of which I often receive, from the mother of a baby four months old:

"In the past few years we have frequently remarked how wrong some of the modern parents bring up their children. We live in a good section of town, and are surrounded by good people, mean folks ranging from three to six years.

Respect Nothing

"These children have no respect for adults, throw mud on our porches, bang on the windows, call us names, and embarrass us when we have guests. Their parents are usually within hearing distance and correct them frequently but never spank them. They rarely play games or behave like normal children, but just run, yell, fight, and throw stones although they have sandboxes, swings and numerous toys which they seldom make use of. When these children act like this to us, should we keep avoiding them as we have been doing?"

I wish some of these foolish parents would read and try to put into practice my bulletins. "How to Teach Tot the Meaning of No," and "Teaching Child Care of Property," each to be had in a stamped address.

Heavy Damage Done By Storm On Campus At Slippery Rock

Third Floor Wall Of One Of Colleges Buildings Ripped Out
By Heavy Wind Storm

Emergency measures have already been taken to close the third floor of one of the Main street college buildings at Slippery Rock State Teachers college, when the west wall of the building was partly ripped out by the devastating wind storm that struck the town on Thursday afternoon just before dusk.

On the college campus, many trees were either uprooted or the earth around the trees was broken where the tree began to pull loose from the ground. Heaviest damage resulted at the Main street building and to the home of C. J. Taylor on Franklin street. A large portion of the roof of Mr. Taylor's home was caved in when a huge poplar tree pulled out by the roots and tossed onto the Taylor home.

Dr. Dale W. Houk, president of the college, stated today that contractors had been contacted and that work on repairing the damage will soon get under way.

Savoia Auxiliary Plans Anniversary

Dr. Cooper Wins Honorary Degree

Dr. Jesse R. Cooper, whose record of service is one of the longest of any doctor in New Castle, will be granted a fellowship in the American College of Radiology at the official convention in San Francisco on June 29.

Dr. Cooper has been a member of the college for a number of years, but the fellowship is an honor accorded only for special merit. The local man was director of radiology at the port of New York during the first world war, and has continued to specialize in it ever since. If he can obtain reservations in San Francisco, Dr. Cooper will receive his degree in person. Otherwise it will be conferred in absentia. The college is meeting at the Palace hotel at the same time that the American Medical association is meeting.

Fire Scare In Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO, June 22.—(INS)—Heat radiations from the smoke stack was blamed today for a small fire that started on the roof of the 21st floor set-back of the 46-story Morrison hotel in Chicago's Loop. No one was injured, and there was no panic among the guests. The fire was brought under control in 20 minutes, and damage was estimated at $1,000. John Wallace, an elevator operator, discovered the blaze, and the fire department was called immediately.

A large crowd, apparently remembering the La Salle hotel disaster which cost 61 lives, gathered at the scene as firemen ran hose lines to the 21st floor set-back and the roof of the adjacent 20-story Chicagoan hotel.

Only a few hours before the fire, hotel employees were given written instructions on what to do in case of fire.

Fire Marshal Earl Bauer said the blaze apparently was caused by heat radiating from the hotel's smoke stack.

Kiddies' Day At Cascade, Monday

Having romped, free of autos, trucks and buses, during the past two Mondays, hundreds of small boys and girls, many accompanied by their mothers, fathers, elder sisters or brothers, will enjoy a third Kiddies day Monday at Cascade park. They may enjoy the various concessions at "cut rates" according to Parks Director Joseph D. Alexander.

"Mothers who wish to provide a luncheon for their children and wish to use the kitchen facilities in the grove may do free of cost," Mr. Alexander reported. He said many took advantage of the facilities during the past several weeks and believes that basket dinner parties this summer will become more popular than for some years past.

Coal Miners Make Demands For More Meat And Bread

Declare They Will Not Work Unless More Food Is Made Available

PITTSBURGH, June 22.—(INS)— Western Pennsylvania bituminous coal miners today revolted against the shortage of food and informed the government coal mine administration that "we will not work unless more meat, bread and flour is forthcoming immediately."

The decision of the diggers was sent to Navy Commander George E.
Slocum, in charge of the coal mine administration for Western Pennsylvania, who admitted that he had received letters from miners to do something to get them a "full dinner pail."

Slocum said a survey showed that the foodstuffs the miners demanded are critically short in hundreds of mining communities and that many miners' families eat meat only once a week. Bread and flour was almost impossible to get in some towns, he said.

The plight of the miners was confirmed by President Frank Watson of the Union Supply Company, an organization which operates stores in mining towns. He said the shortage dates back to before the coal strike on April 1, adding:

"The situation is terrible. Some of our stores have not had a single piece of meat for two or three weeks. I don't know where we're going to get it. We've asked OPA to issue us a slaughter license but since making the request we've heard nothing more about it."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

dressed envelope by writing me at

Befriend Children

In answering the mother, I urged her to try to befriend these children and their parents, complaining the children when they do act well, even making them welcome on her premises so long as they were careful of property and conformed to the rules of her home.

She will, of course, have to be right with her baby when these children come around in order to protect him. As her child grows older she will have to protect him when he is out of doors lest he be a victim of their flying stones and the like. This will be no easy task.

This mother also asks: "How young can the meaning of 'No' be taught, and can you spank a baby as young as ours? Some folks tell me you can spank a child this young, but I don't think either spanking or the meaning of 'No' can be taught till the child is six months old."

In reply, I wrote that six months is far too early, as a rule. Few children creep before the age of eight or nine months of age. Until a child begins to move about "under his own steam," it seems to me he should not be spanked or even hear the word "No" or "Don't."

Until he can face dangers and be dangerous to things about the house, the mother should limit forbiddings to herself. All she needs to do up to then is to discipline herself not to give the child an object or privilege she knows he should not have.

Even when the child beginning to climb, creep or walk is first spanked on his bare thighs or slapped on his hands, the pain should be administered in connection with only one forbidden act or object. Merely intercept him under other conditions. Gradually the meaning of "No", if rarely used and used only when he repeats the specific for-bidden act, will carry over and be effective in important new situations.

What will your harvest be?

» When crops and income are good, it's a good time to provide for a future 'harvest' by putting some of your cash in U. S. Savings 'E' Bonds!

They keep increasing in size, year in and out, until they mature . . . yielding four dollars for every three dollars that you invest in them!

And that 33 1/3% increase in value is only one of many good reasons for buying and holding U. S. Savings 'E' Bonds until maturity.

U. S. Savings Bonds give you a reserve, quickly convertible into cash, for farm improvements or necessities if current income declines.

They build up a substantial backlog for future land purchases, for your children's education, for your own later years. They help keep America strong by holding down inflation . . . and thus help protect the buying power of the dollars you now have.

Put a share of your cash now into this long-range crop.

MAKING LAWS ISN'T ENOUGH— SAFETY IS A PERSONAL JOB

You can't legislate people into decency or morality any more than you can make the highways safe by statute. It is a personal job. A ton of statutes won't make a citizen law abiding unless he decides for himself that he wants to be.

There are plenty of laws governing safety, the trouble is there aren't enough people who will drive safely because they want to. Safety on the highway is remembering the other fellow's rights, it's a matter of being a good neighbor, of yielding a little now and then even though we think we are right, of obeying the rules of the road.

If the signs says "Slow" or "Stop" or the light goes red just as we pull up, let's believe they mean what they say.
Why not make safety a personal issue?

TAKE IT EASY

DEATH IS SO PERMANENT.

Big Run Has Pet Show On Friday

Miss Jane Patterson, handicraft supervisor, acted as judge. The winners were as follows:

First place—Charles Hassan, for the smallest pet, a yellow kitten.

Second place—Diane Abdo, for the cutest pet, a gray kitten.

Third place—Mary Jane Tarnock, for the largest pet, a cat.

A special prize was awarded to Debra Downing for the only dog in the show.

Honorable mention went to Sandra Marnock and Larry Jo Morelli. Larry Jo had a large black cat dressed in doll clothes.

The instructors at the playground are Margaret Carroll and Jack Dunlap.

O. P. A. Agents Make Attack On Black Markets In Boston

BOSTON, June 22.—(INS)—O. P. A. agents and other investigators invaded the Boston market district today seeking evidence to smash the meat black market in the face of undercover threats of violence. Marketmen and shoppers reported meat supplies were at an all-time low.

O. P. A. officials announced that shoppers, men and women alike, seen walking through the market district today with bundles, were liable to be stopped by investigators. The agents want to know where they bought the contents, how much they paid for them and want to weight the purchases.

Police authorities, anticipating possible outbreaks, sent special details of uniformed officers and plainclothesmen into the district. Thousands of disappointed shoppers roamed from store to store only to be met by "No Meat" signs. They were told they would have to "take poultry or nothing." Officials disclosed that black market operators were in a defiant mood as a result of the crackdown. They were boasting that, even if they were caught, they would be exonerated in the courts, as in the case of bootleggers and rum-runners arrested just before the end of prohibition.

The lack of meat was declared by officials to be a "passive resistance strike" by the black marketers against the combined crackdown.

TREE NEEDS ATTENTION

Shading the automobile entrance to the court house on County Line street is one of the most magnificent elm trees in Lawrence county. The butt of the tree is about four feet thick, and from it rise eight huge branches, any one of them the size of an ordinary tree.

At the base of the tree there are signs that insects will soon be munching off the magnificent old tree unless a tree surgeon is called in to do some work. To lose such a beautiful tree would be too bad and to repair it at this time would be inexpensive.

TWO DIVORCE APPLICATIONS

Two divorce applications were filed in the office of prothonotary and clerk of courts.

Mary J. Angelo of Ellwood City asks a divorce from Joseph B. Angelo of New Castle upon grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities to person. They were married September 10, 1938, in Ellwood City.

ANOTHER BITE AT THE DEBT

On July 1, the county will pay $30,000 on the bonded indebtedness along with $4,410 interest charge.

The new payment will bring the debt down to $166,000, a remarkably low figure. The only bonds are Series B Highway Bonds of 1922 bearing 4 1/2 per cent. They are serial bonds or they would have been called long ago.

THREE SENTENCES

Three sentences were handed out by Judge John G. Lamoree on Friday morning. Sylvester Ferrucci, on failure to disclose identity, was fined $100 and costs. Charles E. Mills, assault, assessed the costs. Ruben Carter, Jr., aggravated assault and battery, $1 and costs and three months in the Lawrence county jail.

HARD WORKING HANDS CAN BE WELL GROOMED

Now that garden work and other outside chores are at their height, a few extra precautions will keep women's hands looking well groomed. The strong, capable hand may be as attractive as the soft, dimpled one but only when the skin is smooth and firm and the hand is flexible.

Keep the hands clean is the first rule for general day-in and day-out care. Wash the hands with a good, mild soap as often as is necessary to keep them clean. Equally important is to dry them well. This sounds simple, but thorough drying will prevent chapping.

The habit of using hand lotion when the hands are dry is a good one. When drying the hands, push back the cuticle of each finger with the towel. At night rub cold cream or oil into the backs of the hands.

Wearing rubber or old leather gloves will protect the hands while cleaning or working in the garden. There are gloves especially treated with cream which keep the hands soft but these are hard to find now. Packing the nails with soap or cold cream before doing dirty work will keep the nails from becoming stained or filled with dirt. Just draw the nails fairly short, curved in line with the end of the finger and to the attractiveness of the hand. Instead of pulling or hitting loose ends of cuticle, cut them off with manicure scissors. It takes only a few minutes a day to give the hands and nails the extra touches that mean so much to their well-groomed appearance.

Paroled Convict Wounded In Trap Set By Police

PITTSBURGH, June 22.—(INS)—Paul F. Debold, 28-year-old paroled convict was shot and seriously wounded today in a trap set by police in a Pittsburgh restaurant.

He was shot by Patrolman John J. Walker, who was detailed at the cafe because of two previous burglaries. Walker said he heard glass breaking and saw a man he identified as Debold enter the place. The policeman said he ordered Debold to surrender and when he refused fired a shot that ripped the suspect's chest.

Isadore Rose, alleged accomplice of Debold, was arrested later and is being held as a burglar suspect. Police records show that Debold was sentenced from six to 60 years on a holdup charge. He was paroled in April of this year. Rose's police record disclosed that he served two prison sentences for burglary and two reformatory sentences.

Thomas Jefferson, whose support of agricultural interests profoundly influenced the history of the South and the nation, was a manufacturer of finger to pick up a common pin.

How YOU can get NURSE'S TRAINING for a fraction of the cost of a college education

Because student nurses work while they learn, even the finest hospitals can afford to give you complete, thorough and up-to-date nursing training for only a fraction of the cost of a college education. Here is what you do:

1. Graduate from High School. Entrance requirements vary, but all Schools of Nursing require a high school education, just as colleges do. If you are accepted, your tuition may be free. In other schools it is only a few hundred dollars for the entire three-year course. Most hospitals give you board, laundry and uniforms while you learn. Compare this with the cost of four years of college—with tuition, room, board, books, and clothes to pay for.

3. Take an Aptitude Test and a Physical Examination—the hospital may require this, if you are accepted as a student nurse. All good Schools of Nursing take the best possible care of their students, see that they stay in good health, have time for recreation, plenty of sleep, etc. Nursing is hard work, but you should be stronger and in better health at the end of your training period than you were when you began.

5. Start A Career. There are opportunities for nurses in every country of the world, and in many capacities—in hospitals, public health, industrial health, X-ray, air lines, private practice, Army and Navy, Public Health Service, teaching, and many other fields. And if you marry, as many nurses do, your nurses' training will prove the best possible preparation for bringing up your family. See the director of nurses at the School of Nursing you would like to enter, or write her—today!

2. See the Administrator or Director of Nurses or write the School of Nursing you wish to enter. They will be glad to answer any questions you may have about the school or about nursing. And, they can tell you about the many types of well-paid work open to the graduate nurse. Some nurses, you know, earn over $5,000 a year.

4. Become A Student Nurse. Your training begins in the classrooms, and in a few months you are working interesting periods on the wards under the supervision of graduate nurses. From the very beginning of your career, you work closely with highly trained professional men and women, learning skills that will be useful to you all your life. And you live in a pleasant, college-like dormitory.

Young members of the central branch of the Y.M.C.A. who will not have the opportunity to attend the summer camp sessions of the association may register for the vacation club which will begin July 8 in the "Y" building. Registration begins Saturday, June 22.

Planned specifically by David Gattal, boys' work director, to give summer recreation and instruction to the boys who will be in the city during the vacation months, the club will feature arts and crafts, swimming lessons and special events.

Limited To Fifty

The classes will be limited to 50 boys, and they must be members of the Y.M.C.A. A slight membership fee will be charged for the club which will be used to defray expense of the special events planned.

First period of the club will begin July 8 and conclude July 20. The club will resume August 5 and terminate August 17. All the sessions will be held in the afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p. m. and lasting until 4 p. m. Devotions by ministers of various churches about the city will open the classes, followed by an hour of work in the arts and crafts. At the conclusion of the instruction period the boys will enter the pool for 45 minutes of swimming instruction.

Special events planned in addition to the regular instruction include cook-outs and sleep-ins, bean dinners, sound movies, pal days and hikes.

Boys showing genuine interest and progress in the hobby classes and swimming periods will be awarded a Y.M.C.A. skull cap at the conclusion of the summer.

Stirring Farewell By Commissioner Of Philippines

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines, delivered a stirring farewell address Friday in which he offered the story of Philippine freedom as a message to prevent "a generation of misery and bloodshed throughout the world."

Gripped with emotion, Romulo said goodbye to the House in a dramatic setting as the last resident commissioner from the islands which will take on the cloak of independence July 4.

Romulo reviewed the history of American-Philippine relations and promised that the new republic will stand by the side of the U. S. "not in slavish imitation, not because of pressure, but by profound conviction that we belong beside America." He said:

"We believe in the same things that hold you inviolate and free. We, too, have learned the truths by which free men must live."

Dodgers Win Series Opener From St. Louis Cardinals

Increase Lead Over Cardinals, Feller Defeated

Boston Red Sox End Losing Streak As Hughson Out-pitches Bobby Feller

PIRATES BEATEN AT BOSTON 3 TO 2

NEW YORK, June 22.—(INS)—There is rejoicing on one side of the Brooklyn Bridge today and sadness on the other side.

For the Dodgers had increased their lead over their closest pursuers, the Cardinals, to 2½ games while the once proud Giants of John McGraw sank into the cellar.

Dodgers Trim Cards

The Dodgers and Cards staged a slugfest with the former coming out on top 5 to 3. Old Hugh Casey, who was called in to replace Vic Lombardi in the first, was tagged hard but outlasted his St. Louis rival, Johnny Mize.

The Phils, who have been playing heads-up ball for weeks got a three-hit performance from Schoolboy Rowe to down the Reds 2 to 1, and move out of the league basement on which they have held a lease on for so many years.

Braves Scalp Pirates

Monty Cooper put a damper on the Pirates as the Braves came through, 3 to 2. The defeat brought the Pirates back within a few percentage points of the Phils.

The Red Sox snapped their four-game losing streak when Tex Hughson, the Boston ace, outpitched the mighty Bob Feller, of a 1 to 0 decision.

Tex gave up only three hits and fanned nine while Feller was touched for five hits and fanned seven.

Tigers Claw Yankees

The victory enabled the Red Sox to increase their lead to eight games over the Yankees who bowed before Hal Newhouse and the Tigers, 6 to 2. The slim southpaw fanned nine and gave only four hits, and had a shutout working into the ninth when Charley Keller doubled and Joe DiMaggio smacked his 13th homer for the Yank runs.

The Senators also gained ground on the Yankees by a 4 to 2 decision over the Browns. A three run upsurge in the ninth to trim the White Sox, 5 to 3.

LEGIONS DEFEATS SLOVAKS

The American Legion baseball team defeated the Slovaks last night at the Booker T. Washington field, 7 to 1. It was reported today.

Jasper Park, Alberta, Canada, is the largest national park in North America, covering an area approximately the size of Connecticut.

Tunney Contends Conn Should Not Have Met Louis

Conn Never Has Been Rated As Heavyweight, Says Recent Bout Malodorous

NEW ORLEANS, June 22.—(INS)—Gene Tunney, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, went on record today as saying the Louis-Conn fight Wednesday night "smelled".

The former champ asserted: "It was malodorous". Tunney stopped off in New Orleans en route from New York to Mexico.

Not Heavyweight He stated that Conn was never rated a heavyweight contender in his books, and that he was prepared to wager $25,000 the challenger would be "dick soup" for either Welterweight Ray Robinson or Middleweight Rocky Graziano.

Tunney said: "Conn should have never been pitted against Louis. For months I've preached the only way to elect a challenger is by an elimination tournament, and this fiasco proves my point. I've been shouting it from house-tops, and I've infuriated some of these 'We Boys' on the payroll". Tunney expressed the view that "Jack Dempsey could have liquidated Joe Louis in one or two rounds".

The ex-champ said he didn't take the trouble to attend the bout in person.

Radiator Golfers Elect Officers

Roy Bales Named President; S. L. Dambrocia, Secretary And Treasurer

After the downpour of rain on Thursday evening, the National Radiator Company golfers braved the wet Sylvan Heights golf course and went on with their usual weekly golf matches.

The No. 1 Heat Extractor Boiler team under the shrewd leadership of Fred Lombardo with Whitman, Roy Bales and S. L. Dambrocia took the first half championship by defeating a fighting No. 2 Heat Extractor Boiler team 4 to 0.

Lombardo Medalist Top honors were taken by Fred Lombardo with a neat 35 as he defeated his opponent, Joe Mazzari, who also shot a very good round of golf ending with a 37 card.

The results of the No. 3 Heat Extractor Boiler team and the Gas Boiler team was a tie 2 to 2. The standing of the teams as the league goes into the second half competition is: No. 1 Heat Extractor Boilers 17; No. 2 Heat Extractor Boilers 13; No. 3 Heat Extractor Boilers 10; Gas Boilers 6.

Officers Elected In a meeting held before the matches, the members decided to elect new officers for the 1946 season since they had still been functioning under last season's officers. The election results showed Roy Bales elected president and S. L. Dambrocia re-elected secretary-treasurer of the league.

Congressman Says He'll Sue M. Jacobs

Congressman O'Toole Will Seek $100,000 Damages From Conn-Louis Promoter

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—Rep. O'Toole (D., N. Y.), in a speech in the House Friday, accused M. Jacobs as a "racketeer" and announced he would file suit for $100,000 damages against the Conn-Louis fight promoter.

O'Toole's suit is an outgrowth of Jacobs' charge that the congressman's office tried to obtain free tickets to the fight and was refused.

Terms Charge Smeared "Racketeer" Jacobs accuses me of a "shakedown," O'Toole said. "When Jacobs can't tell the truth he resorts to the smear." O'Toole described the heavyweight championship fight as "the greatest fraud ever perpetrated on the American people since the days of the Mississippi bubble".

He declared that Jacobs' activities "are taking boxing into the gutter, but into the sewer".

AUTO SPEED TRAP DISPUTED BY WOMAN

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 22.—(INS)—The validity of a "drop the handkerchief" speed trap today was dumped into the laps of the Fayette county court by Mrs. Irene Landefeld, of Connellsville, who contended the system was not sufficiently legal to accurately compute time of an automobile over an eighth of a mile.

Mrs. Landefeld, who was fined $10 for speeding, said that she stopped her car within the limits of the trap and therefore her running time of 28.5 miles an hour was incorrect.

Labor Curbs In New Penal Code Revision Draft

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(INS)—Labor riots and unlawful assemblies to resist law enforcement would be outlawed under a revised penal code being drafted today by the joint state government commission.

Ten thousand dollar fines or ten years in prison were advocated for persons convicted of participating in an "unlawful assembly, riot, or affray for the purpose of which is to resist the enforcement of the laws of the United States, or of the Commonwealth, or of any of its political subdivisions."

A sub-committee headed by Sen. Paul M. Cichler (R-Franklin), said a "strong deterrent statute" was needed to prevent mutinous assemblies.

"It seems clear," the sub-committee stated, "that the constitutional right of public assembly and the right to criticize adversely current political thinking does not include the right to stage a mass meeting for the purpose of usurping the powers of law enforcement."

Five thousand dollar fines or five years in prison were urged by the sub-committee for persons convicted of using similar tactics to breach the public peace.

CARE Organization Sends Personal Food Shipments; Red Cross Can Aid Senders

Persons of the county who wish to send personal food shipments to specific parties in Europe may do so through a new relief organization called CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe), a non-profit group with the approval of the President's war relief control board.

Only food may be sent through this organization and the total cost to the sender is $15. This is an all-inclusive price, and includes 40,000 calories of food, grossing 49 pounds. If the person to whom the box is mailed cannot be located the entire price of the shipment will be refunded to the sender.

At the present shipments may be sent to Czechoslovakia, France, Finland, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway and Poland. It is hoped that soon parcels may be also sent to Austria, Belgium and Greece but now these countries are not included on the list.

Persons interested in information concerning this organization may write to CARE, 50 Broad Street, New York 4, N. Y., or come in and talk with any of the Red Cross workers at the chapter house, Beaver Street. The Red Cross workers are prepared to give prospective senders full data concerning the shipments and aid them in addressing the parcels correctly.
